Shirley Temple Films to Be Revived Soon

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Four of the films in which Shirley Temple—dimpled and bond—evoked—helped charm away depression blues in the 30's will be revived for television showing next fall.
Shirley, who's grown from a famous child movie star to a movie mother of three, told about it at a news conference yesterday. She came from her home in nearby Atherton, where at 29 she's a rich matron and wife of Charles Black, manager of business operations for Stanford Research Institute.

Mrs. Black reported the films will be revived in full-dress, Sunday spectacular style on a national TV network.
The pictures will be controlled by the NTA film network, formed in 1956 by National Television Associates and 20th Century Fox.
Mrs. Black said the co-sponsor of the picture revival will be the Ideal Toy Co. of New York, which put out the first Shirley Temple dolls.

News and television writers watched the old Shirley dance, singing on a screen staged up for the Mark Hopkins Hotel while the grownup Mrs. Black sat by, making comments.
"It's somebody else, that's all," she said when she was asked how it felt to watch the old picture.
The four pictures have not been selected.

No Rain in Sight for the Dry East

By The Associated Press.
Showery weather prevailed in most of the western two thirds of the nation today but no rain appeared in sight for the bone-dry states along the Eastern Standard. Skies were clear in most of the Eastern section as the high pressure center in the Great Lakes moved slowly toward the mid-Atlantic coast. Copious rains are needed in the drought-stricken area from Maine to the Carolinas. Crop losses were estimated in the million of dollars.
Today was proclaimed "A Day of Prayer for Rain" in Massachusetts by Gov. Foster Furcolo. He urged "everyone in his own way to ask God to provide us with the divine assistance our commonwealth so urgently needs."
The leading edge of the cooler air associated with the Eastern high-pressure belt moved slowly southward through Florida during the night.

Young Fathers Admit Killing Professor

ATLANTA (AP)—Three Atlanta teenagers, all married and two of them fathers of new-born sons, admitted the fatal slaying of a Georgia Tech associate professor in a $10 robbery.
Detective L. R. E. Jordan said all three signed statements last night and were held for investigation in the slaying and robbery a week ago of Dr. William Knox Ruxley, 32, associate professor of physics at Georgia Tech.
Jordan identified them as Paul Francis Ardesier, 19, Andrew Joe Ryans, 18, and Donald Gordon Little, 17.
The three were picked up, six days after Ruxley, a native of Clover, S.C., was found beaten and robbed on a sidewalk near his apartment. He died of a fractured skull the next day.

FTC to Watch Cigarette Claims Closely

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission said today it is adopting a tougher attitude toward cigarette advertising claims in the light of possible links between smoking and lung cancer.

Acting FC Chairman Robert T. Secrest told House investigators that a formal Public Health Service statement July 12 dealing with smoking and health calls for a "fresh approach" to the job of policing the tobacco industry.
As the first step in tightening the rules against what he called "deceptive" advertising, Secrest disclosed the FTC has given priority to a survey to learn whether smokers understand the meaning of cigarette advertising claims.
"The results of that survey," he said, "will enable the commission to take the necessary steps to protect the public from deception in the labeling or the advertising of cigarettes to the fullest extent of the law, the commission envisions."

The commission is charged with policing business and enforcing federal laws against unfair or deceptive business practices.
Secrest was the windup witness in an investigation by a House Government Operations subcommittee into advertising claims for the effectiveness of filter tip cigarettes.

The committee inquiry, however, has been frequently diverted by the smoking controversy over a cigarette-smoking and lung cancer.
But back by delaying opinions, committee members have insisted by switching their own smoking habits variously.
Chairman "Bartik" (D-Minn.) said he considers "the evidence to date to be impressive" in favor of "contentions that cigarette smoking is a causative factor in lung cancer."

On the other hand, some researchers challenged the validity of statistical findings which suggested a direct cause-and-effect relationship between tobacco smoke and cancer.
Secrest testified the FTC has experienced "unusual difficulty" in the past in policing cigarette advertising claims.

Teamsters to Boycott a Union Meet

WASHINGTON (UP)—Teamsters union leaders will boycott an AFL-CIO hearing next week on charges of corruption in the giant 1,600,000-member trucking union, a spokesman disclosed today.
A. J. Hayes, chairman of the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices committee, advised the Teamsters that he will proceed with the investigation even if its leaders do not appear.
The Teamsters' decision was disclosed as Vice President James R. Hoffa met with backers in Chicago in an apparent kick-off to a campaign to succeed Dave Beck in the union's $50,000-a-year presidency.

The expected boom for Hoffa and the snubbing of the ethical practice committee raised doubts about the future of the Teamsters in the united labor movement.
A Teamsters' spokesman also said the union stands by its policy that officials will not be disciplined by the union. This clashes with the AFL-CIO code of ethical practices, which calls for the ouster of any union leader who uses the Fifth Amendment to avoid answering questions in investigations of corruption such as those conducted by the Senate committee.

Labor Thug Dio Faces Sentence

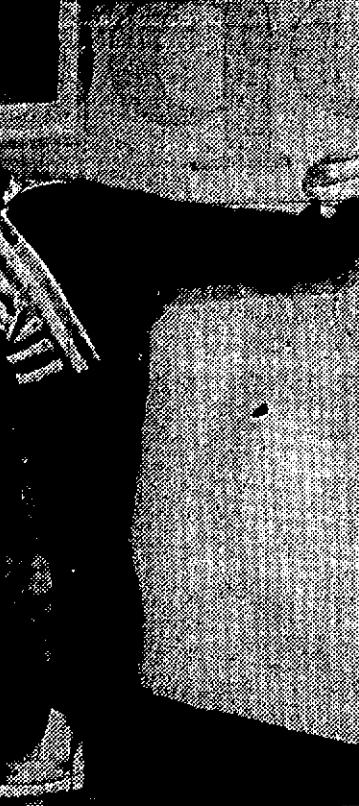

NEW YORK (AP)—Labor racketeer Johnny Dio was found guilty last night in a $50,000 union shake-down conspiracy. He faces up to two years in prison.
An all-male jury found Dio and two men guilty after a four-day trial. Dio, 35, was charged with spreading "rumor-mongering" and "blackmailing" union members.
Convicted with Dio were Samuel Goldstein, 41, president of Local 238 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and Max Chasler, 41, former financial secretary of Local 405 of the Retail Clerks International Association.
The defendants remained poker-faced as a verdict was announced and the jury polled.
Conviction of Dio, a 33-year-old ex-convict came as the U. S. Senate Banking Committee was preparing to open hearings Tuesday in its probe of his activities in labor affairs.
Also hanging over Dio's head is a federal charge that he was the mastermind in the raiding of labor columnist Victor Riesel.
Dio, Goldstein and Chasler were charged with a deal to get the $50,000 from a local union, as the price for a "protection" fee. Two partners in the first deal got the $10,000, while the other two actually paid out.

'The Wayward Bus' Brings Stark, Sexy Drama to Screen

John Steinbeck's novel, "The Wayward Bus," which Twentieth Century-Fox has transformed into a stark, sexy drama in CinemaScope, will be the next attraction at the Saenger theater, opening on Sunday. In the star roles are Joan Collins, Jayne Mansfield, Dan Dailey and Rick Jason, a personable young actor who achieves his first star billing. The picture also introduces Dolores Michaels, a pretty blonde from Kansas City, the first graduate of the company's talent school to make her screen debut.
A strange group of people take the ride on the beat-up, broken-down bus on which most of the story takes place. Miss Mansfield plays the role of a bubble dancer, travelling incognito to fulfill a playdate, and Dan Dailey is the brash salesman of cheap novelties, who romances her. Jason is the bus driver, who is so tired of his wife's tantrums that he falls ready prey to the first girl who comes along.
Miss Michaels is the girl who woos him in a convenient bibulous when the bus brakes down. Larry Keating and Kathryn Givney are her disturbed and disapproving parents.
Miss Collins plays the important role of the hysterical, bibulous wife of the bus driver and other important players in the picture are Betty Lou Kelm, a movie-struck teenager, who is fleeing her job as a counter girl in the roadside cafe; Dee Pollock, an earnest, girl-struck young man, and Will Wright, a superannuated grocer, enroute to claim himself a bride.
The working out of the Freudian problems which beset this bus load of characters furnishes the compelling drama and suspense is added by a near-hurricane, a rock slide and a washed out bridge which imperils the bus and its passengers' throughout its 60 mile trip between Rebel Corners and San Juan in rural California.

DOROTHY DIX

He'll Marry Her — But Won't Take Her Girls

Dear Dorothy Dix: Seven years ago my husband and I, were divorced. I was given custody of our two young children and a small business we had operated together. I received no alimony or support for the children — I was out-talented on that point.
The business hasn't prospered well. The girls are now in their teens and proving quite expensive and my husband has re-married and refuses to help me with them at all.
I've met a wonderful man who wants to marry me but isn't willing to accept the responsibility of the children. He wants me to send them to their father, sell the business and move out of town with him. I know he loves me and will make a good husband. I love him, and love my children too. I don't know which way to turn. If I turn this chance down, I face a lonely future with the girls. MARGIE H.
Dear Margie: I mean you makes so many drastic demands of a woman and figures that the best way of his name is ample payment for all her sacrifices doesn't sound like a guarantee of security. It's very possible that after sacrificing your daughters and your business, you'll find yourself left really alone and broke. Your would-be husband asks an awful lot: what does he offer?
Sending the girls back to Pop for a while may not be a bad idea. If he has a taste of shouldering all their expenses, he'll probably send them back with a couple of real checks. It's not apply to the court that granted the divorce, state your financial position and hold on for help.
Dear Dorothy Dix: Can you write a few words to neighbors who call several times a day, disrupting a busy schedule? I have one friend who phones three or four times a day. I want to be friendly with her but don't like my whole day wasted. — BONNIE

Dear Bonnie: When your friend calls tomorrow, say firmly, but sweetly, "I'd love to talk to you Amy, but I just (1) put a cake in the oven, (2) plugged in the iron to do a terrific ironing, (3) am getting to go to see my mother, or (4) must get off an important letter right away." After three of four of these short calls, she'll catch on.
Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm in love with a boy who attends the university in my home town. We dated all through the school year, but when it was time for him to go home he said he wasn't sure he loved me. He suggested that we both date others. I'm not interested to wait for him until school reopens? — C. A.
Dear C. A.: You're foolish, and will be missing out on an awful lot of fun if you persist in playing the languishing lady. Waken up, and join the crowd.
Huck Finn Quartet on Final Lap
DUMAS (AP)—Little Rock's four "Huckleberry Finn" rafters are traveling the last 60 miles of the Arkansas River on their journey to Vicksburg, Miss.
The boys arrived at Pendleton, Ark., yesterday and stayed overnight in their home-made craft after a stop for milkshakes and sundae. One of the dozen persons who greeted them on their arrival said the four—Paul Craig, Johnny Moore, Phillip Collins and John Lippcomb—were happy as larks.
Mr. and Mrs. Guy Craig Sr. and Guy Jr., the parents and brother of Paul, met the raft on the Delta side of the river yesterday.

Bridges to Resign From Church Job

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Rev. Ben L. Bridges has told officials of the Arkansas Baptist State Convention that he will stand firm on his decision to resign Aug. 31 as executive secretary of the Executive Board and treasurer of the Convention.
At a meeting of the board's Executive Committee yesterday, the Rev. Mr. Bridges was asked to postpone the resignation until after the Baptist State Convention in November.
But he turned down the request, saying he still wanted to quiet at the end of August. He first announced his intention last week.
The committee will meet Aug. 29 to discuss progress in finding a successor for the post, which the Rev. Mr. Bridges has held for 26 years.

One Draft Test for College Students

WASHINGTON (AP)—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey said today only one college qualification test will be offered in the next school year instead of the three given in previous years.
The test results, plus a student's standing in his class, are used by local draft board in considering student requests for deferment to continue their studies.
Hershey said the single test planned next year, probably will be held in the spring. He said the reduced schedule was ordered because the number of persons taking the examination was dropping, and present draft calls are for men 27 years or older.
The director added that 592,000 students have taken the test since it was first offered in 1951. Only 11,22 took it during the school year just ended, Hershey said, compared with 74,327 in the first full year of the program.

Sandburg in Blast at TV Commercials

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Carl Sandburg, the poet and biographer of Abraham Lincoln, aroused a good deal of attention recently when he expressed some strong, personal views about television, before the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Asheville, N. C.

Today he amplified his views in a filmed interview with Arlene Francis on NBC-TV's "Home" program. Here are his principal remarks:

"More than half of the advertising on TV is filled with inartistic, aesthetically, silliness and cheap tricks. Television itself is a miracle in the sense that air and sunlight are old miracles with a use to them that we don't know."

"I can name the items on TV that for me are priceless. The personalities that I have come to know. The travel that I've had—scenes that I'll never have time to visit."

"The Lapland scene that I saw on TV a few evenings ago—and their way of living. In a newsreel, this big proud ship that foundered on a little reef down there at Bermuda—the pathos of that modern invention, the modern steamboat just helpless."

"I could name hundreds of scenes of that kind. And then the faces, the unforgettable faces that one gets on TV. I'll bet that Dave Sarnoff, David Sarnoff, board chairman of RCA couldn't speak more highly in praise of the invention and possible uses of TV than myself."

"There's a percentage of trash in TV programs. But I can understand it. I know a lot about hokum. I was for seven years the motion picture editor of the Chicago Daily News. . . . There's a certain order of humanity—a certain layer that wants hokum. I've defined hokum in different ways. But it's still something mysterious."

"I've asked myself, suppose I was running a TV station here, there or anywhere in the U.S.A. with maybe a million people viewing. What would I do 16 hours a day, seven days a week, 52 weeks a year? What would I do? I'd look at it and I'd say, 'Oh, me—oh, my!'"

Revival Ends Sunday Night

The Revival which has been in progress this week at Bethel A. M. E. Church will close Sunday night, July 28.

Ex-Senator Fine After Operation

MEMPHIS, W. — The 55-year-old former dean of the Senate, K. D. McKellar, was reported in fine shape today, fully recovered from his recent operation for stomach ulcers.

The ex-senator, who still resides in the downtown hotel that has been his home for years, gets out now and then to go to the bank, a friend's funeral or church.

Judson McKellar, his nephew, said McKellar "lives easily and his rheumatism makes it necessary that he keep a practical nurse at hand to help him walk. But his brain is as sharp as ever."
